

Running FasterCap

Launching FasterCap through Automation

FasterCap can be launched through COM Automation. This is a proprietary MS technology implemented under Windows. COM Automation is not available under Linux.

FasterCap's Automation interface allows a remote application to fully control FasterCap, either showing the GUI or as a GUI-less solver engine.

For details about the Automation interface, please see the relevant Automation section.